

What was the nicest thing you did for someone this week?

Share an experience you had with someone who looks different than you do.

What was your favorite story as a child and why did you like it?

If you were President, what would be three things you would change today?

What is something you have never done that you'd like to try? Why?

If you were a teacher, what subject would you teach and why?

What are the most important qualities you look for in a friend?

If you could meet one leader whom would you meet?

Tell about a time you felt guilty? How do you feel about it now?

I would have more peace of mind if ____.

september

CONVERSATION STARTERS

These conversation starters are the perfect way to get your kids—even those teenagers—to start talking. You can use them around the dinner table, in the car, before bedtime, at school, or even for family reunions.

Instructions: Print and cut out questions. Ask away!

Do you believe it's more important to live for yourself or for others?

If your best friend wrote a book about you, what do you think they would title it?

How do you define integrity and do you have it?

What person from history would you like to have been friends with and why?

Has anything bad ever happened that turned out to be for the best?

What school subject has been the easiest for you? Why?

Tell us about your favorite teacher. Why is he/she so special to you?

What school subject has been the most difficult for you? Why?

How do you feel when someone ignores you? How do you react when it happens?

When you are sad what do you do to feel better?

If you could have front row seats to any concert whom would you like to see?

Do you like or dislike surprises? Why or why not?

What is your favorite quotation?

If money were no object
what kind of party
would you throw?

What is your favorite thing about your bedroom.

Talk about an experience
you've had with someone less fortunate.

What are you afraid of?

What do you wish you were better at saying "no" to?

Who is someone you miss?

Which of your personality traits would you most like to change?

